

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to a polyamide-based multilayer film containing at least one saponified ethylene-vinyl acetate copolymer layer and at least one polyamide layer; and 5 provides a polyamide-based multilayer film having excellent resistance to boiling water and retort treatment, and a production method therefor.